SANTAL-MIDY.

The pure Essence of Santal obtained by Midy's process from the best Myros wood.

SANTAL-MIDY is entirely different from the Santal of the Indian Bazaar, is similar to Copal, Cubeb, or Santalum, and free from all bad smell or other inconveniences.

SANTAL-MIDY cures all derangements of the urinary organs in either sex in 48 hours.

SANTAL-MIDY is contained in small round capsules, each of which bears the name of Midy in black ink, without which none are genuine.

SANTAL-MIDY Beware of Imitations. All other capsules or mixtures contain impurities, resins, etc., etc., and are worse than useless.

SANTAL-MIDY is sold by all druggists and medicine dealers throughout the world.

Hongkong Rates of Postage.

In the following Statements and Tables the Rates are given in cents, and are, for Letters per half ounce, for Books and Patterns, per two ounces.

Newspapers over four ounces in weight are charged at double, triple, &c., as the case may be, but any paper or packet of paper may be sent at Book Rate.

The Publication always contains subjects of interest to sojourners in the Far East and the present issue will hold favour with not advantageous comparison, with preceding numbers.—Celestial Empire.

The number contains several articles of interest and value.—North-China Herald.

The China Review for September-October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterizes that publication, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. M.
Philips will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Fritze on "The Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking" showing the results of observations made at the Imperial Russian Observatory at Peking, from 1871 to 1889. "Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formosa," by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and appreciative review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Han," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting.—North-China Daily News.

A residential and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to patronize.—Chrysanthemum.

The November—December number of the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting.
The opening paper by Mr. Heseltine Giles on "The New Testament in China," treats of a question that must necessarily be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries. —Mr. H. H. Parker's "Short Journeys in Szechuan" are continued, and a goodly instalment of these travels in the interior of China is given.
Mr. F. H. Balfour contributes a paper of some length entitled "The Emperor Cheng, founder of the Chinese Empire," which will be read with genuine interest by students of Chinese history.
A few short notices of New Books, one of which
"On Chinese Oaths in Western Borneo and Java," which appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete the number.—H. K. Daily Press.

Trübner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review:— The present publication, judging by the number now held, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighboring countries, some what similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social development, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of communication as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions in many instances may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first ranks of the Review by papers highly credible to their respective authors.

Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and style of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese postmaster of the nineteenth century, S. Fung-poo, by Mr. E. C. B. B. is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary merit.

Some notices of new books, one of which
"On Chinese Oaths in Western Borneo and Java," which appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete
the number.—H. K. Daily Press.

THE CHINA REVIEW.
PUBLISHED B.L. MONTHLY.

THIS Review, which was intended to meet the wants of many students of Chinese caused by the discontinuance of 'Notes and Queries on China and Japan,' has reached its Tenth Volume. The Review discusses the topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the 'Far East,' and about which every intelligent person connected with China is desirous of acquiring trustworthy information. It includes many interesting Notes and original Papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Antiquities, Mythology, Natural History, etc., and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recently a new departure has been taken, and the Review now gives place to Trade, Commerce, and descriptive notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the scope of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be made more generally useful.

The Review department receives special attention, and endeavours are made to present a careful and concise record of Literature on China and, to give of criticism embodying sketches of the most recent works on such subjects. Authors and Publishers are requested to forward works to 'Editor, China Review,' care of 'China Mail Office.'

Notes and Queries are still continued and form an important means of obtaining from and diffusing among students knowledge on obscure points.

The Correspondents' column also affords further and greater facilities for the interchange of views and discussion of various topics.

Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, or any of the Modern languages are received. The papers are contributed by the members of the various Consulars, the Imperial Council, and Hongkong Services, and also by the Missionary bodies amongst whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is judiciously cultivated. Amongst the regular contributors are Drs. Chalmers, Elkes, Hesthuisen, and Hirth, Professor Legge, and Maser Balfour, Watson, Stent, Phillips, MacLaverty, Groot, Jamieson, Faber, Kopsh, Parker, Playfair, Giles, Piton, and Taylor, all well-known names, masters of sound scholarship and thorough mastery of their subjects.

The subscription is fixed at $6.00 per annum, postage included, payable in advance.

Orders for binding volumes will be promptly attended to. Address, 'Managing Editor, China Mail Office.'

OFFICES OF THE PRESS.

'All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review.'—Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.).

'The China Review' is now an excellent table of contents.—'Celestial Empress.'

'The publication always contains subjects of interest to journeymen in the Far East and the present issue will be still more favourable if not advantageous in comparison with preceding numbers.'—'The Review.'

'This number contains several articles of interest and value.'—'North-China Herald.'

'The China Review' for September-October fully maintains the high standard of excellence which characterizes that publication, and altogether forms a very interesting and readable number. Meteorologists will find an interesting and valuable contribution by Dr. Friend on "The Amount of Precipitation (Rain and Snow) of Peking," showing the results of observations made at the famous Russian Observatory at Peking from 1841 to 1880. "Notes on the Dutch Occupation of Formosa" by Mr. Geo. Phillips, contains some interesting information, although much of it is second-hand. The Notices of New Books include a most generous and consecutive review of "The Divine Classic of Nan-Hua," and the Notes and Queries are as usual very interesting.'—'North-China Daily News.'

'A substantial and reliable Review which all students of China and the Chinese would do well to patronize.'—'Urgathaman.'

'The November-December issue of the China Review contains less variety than usual, but the few articles are very interesting. The opening paper by Mr. Herbert A. Giles on 'The New Testament in Chinese' reads of a question that must needs early be of great importance in the eyes of all missionaries.'—Mr. E. H. Faber's 'Short Journeys in Szechuan' are continued, and a goodly instalment of those travels in the interior of China is given. Mr. E. H. Balfour contributes a paper of some length entitled 'The Emperor Cheng, founder of the Chinese Empire,' which will be read with genuine interest by students of Chinese history. A few short notices of New Books, the number of Notes and Queries, and some of which 'On Chinese Cards in Western Borneo and Java' might appropriately have been placed under a more general heading, complete the number.
